

From the Dean's Desk

The State of Sy Syms 2021

Our name "Israel" emerged from a struggle. Yaakov Avinu wrestled with an angel and the angel suddenly had to leave (Bereishit 32:25-27). We would have expected Yaakov to breathe a sigh of relief and move on quickly to easier tasks.

Yet, Yaakov did something surprising: He refused to relinquish the angel until he received a bracha, a blessing. R' Jonathan Sacks, zt"l, former chief rabbi and YU professor, says that this is how we have to come out of any struggle: by finding ways to exit amidst blessing.

This year has certainly been one of struggle, but as you'll see in this State of Sy Syms newsletter, everyone involved in Sy Syms, from students to faculty to administration to alumni and members of the Board of Overseers, helped make this into a year of blessings, too. For instance, please see this brief video about last summer's YU Consulting Force.

First, as a review of the year, here are links to six of our recent Dean's Desk newsletters:

- The New Sy Syms Jewish Values Curriculum (August 2020)
- Welcome to Our New Faculty (July 2020)
- Challenges Become Opportunities: New Summer Initiatives at YU (April 2020)
- YU \(Fully\) Online (March 2020)
- The New Face of Entrepreneurship at YU (February 2020)
- Avraham Avinu: Real Estate Mogul (November 2019)

Second, to set the table for the coming year, please watch the four-minute "State of Sy Syms 2021" animated video below.

Thank you to everyone who helped make possible all of our progress and deepening of our strengths: faculty, students, parents, alumni, board members, donors, support aces, administration, and many other members of Team Syms and One YU.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Noam".

Dr. Noam Wasserman
Dean

CAMPUS EXPERIENCE

Very small classes

Amazing Shabtos

New York City

Student Clubs and Activities

Close relationships with professors

Lifelong friendships

The graphic features a hand-drawn banner at the top with the text 'CAMPUS EXPERIENCE'. On either side of the banner are cartoon drawings of a woman and a man. Below the banner, there are several icons: a plate of matzo ball soup, a play button icon, a skyline of New York City, a hand holding a whiteboard marker, and two figures standing together. Text elements are arranged around these icons, including 'Very small classes', 'Amazing Shabtos', 'New York City', 'Student Clubs and Activities', 'Close relationships with professors', and 'Lifelong friendships'. A whiteboard and chair icon is also present near the 'Very small classes' text.